

In this still from a video, four lights at the left spurred some mystery on Friday night. They're actually four skydivers. (credit: CBS)

UFOs or not, Banton said it's still a sight to see.

"Night-time jumps are a little more intense because of the added factor of the city lights," he said.

"They make everything look really cool and give you a different perspective of the city. And then with the pyrotechnics, you got the wiring and you have to be careful moving around. That's on top of the